

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is yet another unfair assault on those who cannot afford more taxes, while those who can afford to pay receive a tax break.

I use my wireless phone primarily for safety, and emergency purposes. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can reap yet another tax cut they don't need. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Thank you for your time and your consideration of this matter.

Sincerely,

Miranda Marquit
